

Max Ahnen, Jannis Fischer – BPET

The aim is to develop a new and cost-effective PET device dedicated to image and diagnose diseases of the brain.

This leads to a first prototype proving that the envisioned design and technology work.

The vision is that dedicated PET scanners become widely available.

