New Events

Tea Time with Sarah Springman

Before her retirement as rector at ETH, Sarah Springman is taking some time out of her busy schedule to sit down with the female students of D-INFK. Don't miss this chance to get to know the inspiring woman that has led the teaching efforts at ETH for 8 years, and you'll even be able to ask your own burning questions!

- Monday, October 25
- 🕒 12:00 - 13:00
- CAB G 59 (to be confirmed)
- 🍷 Snacks will be offered after the event
- 👩🎓 Female students at D-INFK

Space is limited, so stay tuned for our separate email where you will be able to sign up!

EQUALVOICE

EqualVoice: Invited Guest Talks

Using computer science to improve representation of women in media

We will be hosting three guest speakers from the EqualVoice initiative:

- Annabella Bassler (CFO at Ringier)

- Merlin Bauer (technical data specialist at Ringier)
- Katia Murmann (journalist at Ringier)

The initiative is collaborating with the ETH Media Technology Center and aims to drive change toward better representation of women in journalism—with the help of technologies like natural language processing. Here are the most important details:

- Wednesday, October 27
- 🕒 16:15 - 17:00
- ML F 39
- Open apéro after the event
- All D-INFK members are invited

Thanks to the united forces of women's organizations at ETH, we are happy to announce the installation of menstrual product dispensers at ETH! With this, ETH is the first Swiss university to offer these products free of charge.
