[March 2023]

What an interesting month March was! We kicked it off with our very first book club meeting, which we are excited to continue on a monthly basis. On March 8th, we celebrated international women's day with a lunchtime talk with Professor Angelika Steger. And last week, we were visited by Siemens for their "Sustainability and Technology with purpose"-event. Let's see what next month has in store for us!

As always, if you have suggestions or questions, you can contact us via csnow@inf.ethz.ch.

We indicate the main target group in the header of the corresponding news:  for the students (bachelor and master) and  for the researchers (PhD's, postdocs, and scientific staff members of D-INFK)

Get to know Kristina!

We continue our series of introducing our team members with one of our co-leaders, Kristina!

Introduce yourself!

Hi everyone! I'm an Established Researcher in the "Foundations of Cryptography" group and I'm grateful that I can contribute to the mission of CSNOW as a co-leader already since 2021. I came to ETH from Darmstadt (Germany), where I completed my PhD. Originally I come from the Czech Republic. I spend most of my time outside of work with my little daughter.

What is your favourite animal?

Huh....To be honest, I'm more of a plant person than an animal person. But if I should name one animal, then it would be a dog.

What is your most embarrassing story at ETH?

What I find really embarrassing is that even though I have been at ETH for 2.5 years by now, I still come late to meetings sometimes simply because I get lost in CAB.

What was your favourite CSNOW event that you attended?

There are many CSNOW events that I really like, but one of my favorite ones is the yearly Career Panel. From the social events, it would be the Advent skating with Glühwine :)
