[May 2023]

Wow what an exciting semester this has been! We could meet so many of you at the CSNOW Career Panel of this year and also our book club has reached even more members. As we are closing this semester, let's have a look at what awaits us in the following weeks.

As always, if you have suggestions or questions, you can contact us via csnow@inf.ethz.ch.

We indicate the main target group in the header of the corresponding news:  for the students (bachelor and master) and  for the researchers (PhD's, postdocs, and scientific staff members of D-INFK)

Get to know Marie-Louise!

We continue our series of introducing our team members with another co-leaders, Marie-Louise!

Introduce yourself!

Hi  I'm Marie-Louise, a 6th semester Bachelor Student in CS :)

What is your favourite animal?

My favorite animals are cats. I love that they are so independent and that they do whatever they want.

What was your favourite CSNOW event that you attended?

My favorite CSNOW event I attended is definitely our Book-Club meetings. It's so nice to discuss about books with people who are equally as excited about reading as me.

What is your most embarrassing story at ETH?

It's very hard for me to be embarrassed, I don't really think about that a lot... but sometimes I do feel a little awkward when my shoes squeek a lot when walking in the library.

Impressions from CSNOW Career Panel 2023

This year's CSNOW Career Panel was a huge success! We thank our speakers again and to our audience. We are happy that so many of you could join us and looking forward to next year's Career Panel already.
