

1st RESILIENT DEMOCRACY LAB WORKSHOP

UNSW Sydney, 14 March 2023

Note: Each presenter is invited to present for 40 minutes, followed by a 15 minute discussion and coffee break (included).

MORNING

9:00-9:30: Welcome and breakfast

9:30—10:25: Marco Faravelli (UQ), Procedural Barriers to Political Candidacy: Gender, Discouragement, and Candidate Persistence (with Umair Khalil and Sundar Ponnusamy)

10:25—11:20: Guillem Riambau-Armet (Barcelona), Can National Identity Trump Ethnic Favoritism? Evidence from a field experiment in Singapore

11:20—12:15: Ben Goldsmith (ANU), Exploring Affect, Gender and Implications for Democracy in Response to a Territorial Threat in International Relations: An Experiment (with Thomas Wynter)

12:15—13:40: Lunch

AFTERNOON

13:40—14:35: Raymond Duch (Oxford), Politics as Usual for the Global Pandemic Public?

14:35—15:30: Barton E. Lee (ETH Zurich), From Gridlock to Polarization (with Marc S. Jacob and Gabriele Gratton)

15:30—15:40: Afternoon break

15:40—16:35: Ashani Amarasinghe (Sydney), Public Response to Resource Windfalls (with Kathryn Baragwanath)

16:35—17:30: Kyle Peyton (ACU Melbourne), Effects of Land Acknowledgements on Beliefs, Attitudes, and Behaviors: Experimental Evidence from Australia, Canada, and the United States" (with Lachlan McNamee)

The Resilient Democracy Lab acknowledges support from:

