

JASMIN TSCHUMI

Born in Switzerland and educated in Zurich, I've got a solid grasp on Swiss culture, university life and regulations here. Over the course of my three-year PhD journey, a valuable lesson I've learned is that we are not alone in facing difficulties; there are others going through similar experiences. Engaging in discussions about these challenges can be incredibly beneficial, and I'm here to offer advice wherever I can to help you navigate through these difficult times.

